What we offer...

- Hayden House is a safe, clean, warm and trauma-informed environment where you can get a head start on your recovery from substance use disorders.
- We provide very affordable private living accommodations for up to ten (10) women with a two shared bathrooms, living room, study and kitchen. All utilities, washer and dryer, and WiFi are included.
- We offer scholarships to ease transitions to help women go from where they were to where they dream to be.
- We have a house manager who is a peer in recovery from substance use disorders and mental health issues, and has a passion from helping others find recovery for themselves.

- We recognize all paths of recovery from Substance Use Disorders, although women in residence at Hayden House must be engaged in treatment and community organizations as best as they can manage.
- Community Members in recovery mentor women at Hayden House to immerse them in the local recovery community.
- We provide childcare to help with attendance to twelve step mutual help organization meetings
- We grow many of our vegetables on site together, hosting a community garden in our backyard.
- We break bread together every evening, eating a meal, enjoying each others company and learning to live in community.

Our Six Guiding Principles

- Empowerment, Voice and Choice
- Cultural, Historical, and Gender Issues

We recognize these principles as requirements for successful long-term recovery, and they are core values for our work at Hayden House.
